STUPID STICKER NEWS

Yes, another article on those damn stickers. Do they annoy you? If you don't want to read about them, the best way to stop these articles is to help eliminate these stickers. Or you can volunteer to write an article for this newsletter. Do you have it in you?

A Department of Sanitation spokesman close to the situation reported to us that a sting was performed on one of these companies that advertise with these illegal stickers. Forty-seven violations were issued to the mechanic that showed up at the location when a roll of stickers and an invoice book with another violator's phone number were found in his truck. Two weeks later, another 400 violations were issued against the same man for violations of the sticker law. It appears that the Department of Sanitation is responding to the many complaints that have come in via 311.
